

Class and Subjects Taught by Dr. K

Background on Dr. K's teaching

Dr. Kaeochinda has taught multiple face-to-face, online, and hybrid courses since 2012. His expertise is on behavioral science research, developmental psychology with emphasis on multicultural families and emerging adulthood, cognitive psychology, and special topics such as Industrial/Organizational Psychology, Psychology of Video Games and eSports, Sports Psychology, and career and graduate school preparation.

Lower Division (100 & 200 level) Courses that Dr. K have taught

- Introduction to Psychology & General Psychology
- Introduction to Statistics
- Introduction to Research Methods
- Adult Aging & Development
- Asian American Psychology
- Action Research Methodology

Upper Division (300+ level) Courses that Dr. K have taught

- Statistics for the Behavioral Sciences
- Advanced Research Methods
- Capstone I & II
- Personality Theory
- Lifespan Development
- Cognitive Processes
- Cognitive Development
- Parenting and Family Relations
- Psychology Junior Seminar (Graduate and Career prep course)
- Junior Seminar in Criminal Justice (Graduate and Career prep course)
- Writing for Social & Behavioral Sciences (APA style)
- Psychology of Video Games
- Industrial/Organizational Psychology
- Sports Psychology

Master Level (500+) Courses Taught by Dr. K

Research Methods and Assessment

Doctoral Level Courses Taught by Dr. K

- Cognitive and Affective Bases of Behavior
- Statistics I
- Research Methods

Additional Experience

- Undergraduate Capstone Advisor
- Dissertation methodologist and statistician